Timeless Ladies Perform on Sing: Ultimate A Cappella

Published: 27th October 2017 10:06

L-R: Chloe Dixon, Lindsey Bonnick, Lauren Potter with Cat Deeley
A vocal harmony trio based in Portsmouth will be performing on Sky 1 tonight (27th October) at 9pm.

Timeless have entered a national singing competition called Sing: Ultimate A Cappella which is hosted by Cat Deeley and debuted at the start of this month.

Tonight viewers will be able to find out if the group has made it to the final which will be broadcast on November 10th.

Lindsey Bonnick from the group said, "It's really exiting as we've been watching every week and seen three groups go through. Episode 4 has been a long time coming so we are really excited to watch it together.

"It's been an incredible experience. It's such a glamorous show and the theatre, The Troxy in London, is wonderful. We've never been there before and it's absolutely stunning."

The Timeless ladies have been together for two years and are the only group on the show from the south coast. Although they are singing a capella, they normally perform with a band so have had to hone their skill.

Lindsey explained, "A capella is so different. It's completely stripped back. It's about listening intently to each other. In a band, you're all in it together but with a capella, it's so exposed and there is not a lot of room for error.

"I think a capella will be a much bigger part of our repertoire after the show goes out."

Find out out how the ladies do tonight at 9pm. In the meantime, you can catch them on their website or Facebook page.
