Lindsey Bonnick of the vocal harmony trio 'Timeless' is through to the final of Sky 1's new show 'Sing: Ultimate A Cappella'.

The former Sandown High School student and Shanklin resident first appeared on television screens across the country on 27th October. Now, Lindsey is to re-appear alongside her 2 counterparts Chloe Dixon and Lauren Potter. This time they will be competing in the final of the competition.

Timeless is the only group to be representing the South Coast and will be on screens again on Friday 10th November.

The Portsmouth-based trio cover music from the 40's to the 00's and have been together for over 2 years.

The ultimate winning group will get the opportunity to record an album at the iconic Abbey Road Studios and have a single released in time for Christmas.

You can see any interview with Timeless at <https://build.aol.com/video/59f9e7e34db5ff559119aeeb>.
